The Tennis Center At College Park

A New Tennis Experience, At A State-of-the-Art Facility

Maryland tennis has a new place to call home: The Tennis Center at College Park. Located on Paint Branch Parkway, this state-of-the-art facility has a total of 27 tennis courts - 12 indoor and 15 outdoor courts. The indoor courts are split into eight Decoturf II hard courts and four Har-Tru Clay courts. The outdoor courts cousist of nine Decoturf II hard courts, four Har-Tru Clay courts and two red clay courts.

The clubhouse lobby includes a pro shop as well as a lounge area for athletes.

Each of these three tennis structures contains four courts ensuring playing time for everyone.

The Tennis Center offers a chance to play on European red clay, as well.

The back door of the clubhouse leads to 15 outdoor courts.

The outdoor courts have a beautiful walking galleria.

Head Coach Jim Laitta

14th Season at Maryland • 15th Season Overall • Eastern Kentucky '88

Entering his 14th season as a head coach of the Maryland men's tennis program, Jim Laitta has taken what began as an underfunded program onto the national scene. Arriving at Maryland in 1991, Laitta was the director of tennis for 11 seasons where he oversaw all facets of both the men's and women's teams. In 2002, he focused entirely on the men's team and begins his third season in that role this year.

Laitta began his first season with both men's and women's teams that did not have any scholarship players. The 1998-99 season marked the first year that the program had eight scholarships for the women. Prior to becoming a fully-funded women's team, Laitta demonstrated his recruiting prowess and on-court coaching abilities by taking his partially funded teams to the NCAA Tournament three times in four years. Laitta was named head coach of the men's and women's team in 1991 before handing the women's team over to Martin Novak in 2001.

In 1996, he led the Terrapin women's team to the school's first-ever NCAA appearance, as well as a tie for fourth place in the grueling Atlantic Coast Conference. As a result, he was named both ACC and NCAA Region I coach of the year by his peers. The 1999 season saw the women's team achieve the "triple crown" at the NCAA Tournament by competing as a team and in singles and doubles; this was the first time in the team's history that this was accomplished.

Laitta also coached two of his players through two other prestigious tournaments, the National Invitational Tournament and the National Clay Court Championships.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Laitta was the head women's coach at Mississippi State University from 1989-1990. The program finished in the national Top 20 and captured an NCAA doubles championship. In addition to coaching several college All-Americans and junior national champions, he has coached professionals who have competed in major tournaments such as the U.S. Open and Wimbledon.

Laitta played collegiately at Eastern Kentucky University where he was team captain and played the No. 1 singles and doubles positions. Upon earning his degree in psychology in 1988, he competed on the satellite tour, but always knew that coaching would be in his future.

Coach Laitta's Recruiting Statement

Head coach of the Maryland men's tennis program, Jim Laitta recruits at the National Clay Courts (Rockville, Md.), the National Hard Court Championships (Kalamazoo, Mich.), and the Winter Nationals (Phoenix, Ariz.). Generally, prospective players should be ranked in the top 15 of their sections and in the top 150 nationally.

"The type of student-athletes that we look for here are highly motivated individuals who want to excel both on the court and in the classroom. Our program is one of the more intense programs in the country. The players on the team each have the option of 1-2 individual workouts a week. We prepare our players physically and mentally for their matches. We are starting to attract players here who have ambitions of playing on the pro tour. We try to accommodate all of the players' dreams and goals when they arrive here. When the players leave here upon graduating, they should all be able to say that they had the time of their lives at the University of Maryland."

— Jim Laitta

2004 Men's Season Preview

Head coach Jim Laitta is losing only one starter from last season which may give the Terrapin men's tennis team the necessary leverage to make waves in the Atlantic Coast Conference this year. While coaching the youngest team in his 14 years at the helm of the Terrapin men's tennis program, Laitta is optimistic about the 2004 season.

"I am very excited about this year's team. I feel that this is the strongest nucleus of players that we have had in a long time," says Laitta about the ten players on his roster.

The Terrapins are far from a finished product but optimism abounds with a youthful team that is certain to improve throughout the spring season and beyond. During the fall, the Terps have taken significant strides towards a successful spring season.

Maryland opened their fall season at DC Metro where they met numerous local rivals, coming away with key victories in singles and doubles. The tournament was also an important opportunity for the Terps' three freshmen to get their first taste of collegiate tennis action. The trio is made up of Chase Dawson (Timonium, Md.), Scott Fink (Roslyn Heights, N.Y.) and John O'Rourke (Merion, Pa.). All three have seen action in the Terps three tournaments this fall. "The freshman and the addition of transfer Ian Bliss will make our team more solid from top to bottom," says Laitta.

Bliss, hailing from Plainview, N.Y. transferred from West Virginia at the start of the 2003 school year. Due to the disbanding of West Virginia's varsity men's tennis team last season, Bliss was eligible for action during the fall. The junior is extremely quick on his feet and will see time in the top half of the line up this spring.

The team will benefit greatly from the leadership of Troy Demers (Annapolis, Md.) and David Reichsfeld (Santa Cruz, Bolivia). The junior duo are the most experienced returnees in Laitta's lineup. He is counting guidance from his co-captains. They know the long road that the Terps schedule takes through numerous nationally- ranked teams found in the ACC conference.

Last season, Reichsfeld recorded an amazing 11-match win streak in singles at the start of the spring season. Anticipate another successful season from the Terps most steady performer, who is also the team's current leader in singles victories.

The 2004 Terps

The Terps roster is rounded out by junior Rory Theis (Bloomington, Minn.) and sophomores Kris Barnes (Gaithersburg, Md.), Scott Peters (Hopkinton, Mass.) and Pierre Rudder (Port of Spain, Trinidad). Theis adds phenomenal prowess on the doubles side of the court and looks to get healthy after an injury this fall. Barnes a transfer from Virginia Commonwealth will sit out this spring to until he is eligible for action next season. Peters was part of the highlight of the Terps' fall season when teamed up with Bliss at the Penn Classic. The duo streaked through the Flight A doubles bracket, defeating host Penn to clinch the title.

The Terps improved tournament to tournament finishing strong at Penn. Aside from the doubles title, the Terps had three players in the singles quarterfinals and two in the semifinals. Also O'Rourke, a walk on, went 5-1 and won the Flight B backdraw.

Maryland will host 14 matches this season at the Tennis Center at College Park, their home facility for the third straight year. The Terps proved to be a superior team against unranked opponents, compiling four shutouts against non-conference opponents.

Overall Maryland finished with a 10-12 record in the spring of 2003. With a little more depth than last years team, the Terps will look play off of the momentum gained from last years' ten-win season, their first in a decade. No matter how lofty coach Laitta's goals may seem with a schedule that includes some of the nation's top teams, he rates the team's success on the amount of integrity and dedication found among his players. With this group of men, this season will surely be a success.

Rory Theis

Junior • Bloomington, Minn./ Thomas Jefferson (Massachusetts)

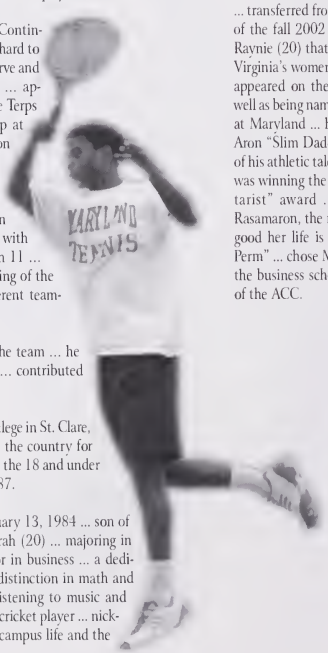
On Theis: Look for a strong leadership role from Theis this season ... brings veteran experience to the young Terp team ... an outstanding doubles player.

Fall 2003: Battled injuries throughout the fall season ... competed in the Tom Fallon Invitational while rehabbing ... added depth in the singles and doubles lineups.

Spring 2003: Played mostly at the No. 6 singles position ... compiled a 3-7 record in his first season at Maryland ... teamed up with fellow newcomer Pierre Rudder, in doubles play.

Before Maryland: A four-year letterwinner at Jefferson ... state team champion as a freshman ... state team doubles champion as a sophomore ... two time all-conference selection ... captain of his team 1999-2000.

Personal: Rory Sean Theis ... born November 22, 1981 ... son of Don and Peg Theis ... transferred from UMass near the end of the fall 2002 season ... has a sister Raynie (20) that is a member of West Virginia's women's tennis team ... has appeared on the ACC honor roll as well as being named to the Dean's List at Maryland ... his favorite athlete is Aron "Slim Daddy" Gortman because of his athletic talent ... his biggest thrill was winning the "world's best air guitarist" award ... admires his dog, Rasamaron, the most because of how good her life is ... nicknamed "Big-Perm" ... chose Maryland because of the business school and to be apart of the ACC.



2003 Men's Tennis Review

Terps post 10 wins for first time since 1992

The University of Maryland men's tennis team entered the 2002-2003 season with the intention of having a productive season. The Terps topped last year's performance by pushing their win column into double digits for the first time since 1992. Head coach Jim Laitta led the team to a 10-12 mark, the best record in more than ten years.

Highlighting the start of the Terps' season was sophomore David Reichsfeld (Santa Cruz, Bolivia). Reichsfeld was a consistent singles performer for the Terps, winning his first 11 matches of the regular season. His 11-match win streak was the longest was the longest of Laitta's tenure at Maryland.

Also leading the Terps was senior co-captain Chris Chiu (Columbia, Md.). He completed the regular season with a career best 11-11 record. He finished as the 2003 team's career leader in victories.

Playing in arguably one of the toughest conferences in men's tennis, the Terps struggled in the ACC, but shined non-conference matches. Against non-conference foes, Maryland went 10-3. This season the Terrapins hosted 14 home matches, winning nine of them in their second season at the Tennis Center at College Park.

After a season-opening loss to American, the Terps rebounded and defeated Georgetown, 6-1. They then posted their first shutout of the season against Temple, before hitting the road to take on then-No. 20 Ohio State. The Terps were able win two matches before falling to the Buckeyes.

The Terps, coming off of a solid performance against Ohio State, went on to win their next three matches against Cleveland State, Drexel, and George Mason. Visiting West Virginia snapped the Terps' three-game win streak to drop the Terps' record to 5-3.

The Terps reached the middle of their season with an impressive 8-3 mark after defeating Delaware, Loyola, and Villanova. The Terps continued with a long homestand by opening ACC action against Georgia Tech. The Jackets shut down the Terps and a streaking David Reichsfeld, handing him his first loss of the season. Although the Terps suffered their first ACC loss, it did not keep them from routing Coppin State, 7-0, the next week.

Maryland traveled south for spring break, facing three ACC opponents in four days. The Terps were unable to win a match against Florida State or Wake Forest. In the Terps' last match before heading home for a few days off, freshman Scott Peters won his first career ACC match against Duke's Stefan Rozycki in straight sets. No other Terrapins followed Peters' lead, and Maryland fell 6-1 to the ninth-ranked Blue Devils. Finding themselves again on the road, the Terps dropped a 7-0 decision to Virginia .

The Terps had their eyes set on NC State for their first ACC victory of the season. Last season Maryland ended a long drought of ACC wins with a 4-3 defeat of the Wolfpack. They were unable to pull out a win in Raleigh, but two Terps found wins in singles action. Along with Chiu, Reichsfeld won his first ACC match of the season against the Wolfpack.

Maryland returned home to close out their regular season with three matches remaining. Mount St. Mary's fell victim to the Terps' sixth shutout of the season, as well as their fifth 7-0 victory at the Tennis Center at College Park. The Terps ended their regular season by losing their final two matches against North Carolina and Clemson.

Maryland competed as the ninth seed at the ACC Championships, falling to eventual tournament champion Duke in the first round. The Terps finished the season 10-12, winning the most matches in a season since 1992.

Coach Novák's Recruiting Statement

Third-year coach brings a wonderful outlook!

The Maryland women's tennis program offers eight full scholarships and is funded to be competitive in the Atlantic Coast Conference and nationally. Prospective student-athletes should be serious students and have earned a ranking of about top 100 or better nationally.

Generally, I recruit at the National Clay Courts (Memphis, Tenn.), Fed Cup (San Rafael, Calif.), Hard Courts (San Jose, Calif.), Orange Bowl International Championships (Miami, Fla.) and the Super Nationals (Phoenix, Ariz.).

We are looking for those willing to go the extra step in their personal development and in representing the Terps. It is important to us that our new generation has initiative and pride, both academically and athletically.

The University of Maryland provides an atmosphere ripe with opportunities to continue growing. A degree from the University of Maryland reflects a quality education, earned through a positive, constructive and fun college experience.

I agree with famed soccer coach Sven-Goran Erickssson who said, "You want speed, technique, intelligence, good character and winners who hate to lose."

If you have what it takes, please give us a try. You will love it!

— Martin Novak

The Tennis Center At College Park

A New Tennis Experience, At A State-of-the-Art Facility

Maryland tennis has a new place to call home: The Tennis Center at College Park. Located on Paint Branch Parkway, this state-of-the-art facility has a total of 27 tennis courts - 12 indoor and 15 outdoor courts. The indoor courts are split into eight Decoturf II hard courts and four Har-Tru Clay courts. The outdoor courts consist of nine Decoturf II hard courts, four Har-Tru Clay courts and two red clay courts.

The clubhouse lobby includes a pro shop as well as a lounge area for athletes.

A look at the fully-lighted indoor hard courts.

Each of these three tennis structures contains four courts ensuring playing time for everyone.

The Tennis Center offers a chance to play on European red clay, as well.

The back door of the clubhouse leads to 15 outdoor courts.

The outdoor courts have a beautiful walking galleria.

Head Coach Martin Novák

Third Season at Maryland • 19th Season Overall • Texas Christian '84

Entering his third season with the Maryland Terrapins, head coach Martin Novak boasts a career record of 217-185 in his 18 years of coaching.

This former University of Arkansas and University of Minnesota head coach, came to Maryland in 2001 to elevate the women's tennis program to national prominence. Following the success of former coach Jim Laitta, who helped turn Maryland women's tennis into a fully-funded program, Novak is continueing to guide the Terrapins in the right direction.

He began his coaching career with the Razorbacks in 1985 and compiled a 71-45 record, highlighted by two trips to the Southwest Conference semifinals. Novak's 1990 squad finished second in the conference.

In 1990, he took over the coaching reins at Minnesota, where he led the Gophers to four NCAA Championship appearances. The Novak-led Gophers earned the distinction as the only women's tennis team from 1996-2000 to boast a winning Big Ten record in each of those five seasons. Novak was rewarded for his accomplishments and named Big Ten Coach of the Year following a 7-3 conference finish during the 2000 season and a trip to the league's championship finals. Carrying the Gophers as high as No. 28 in the nation in 1997, it is Novak's goal for the Terrapins to emulate these results. After 11 seasons at Minnesota, Novak compiled a record of 126-118.

Born in Czechoslovakia, Novak has had a diverse upbringing. He grew up in Sweden and earned an engineering degree. Novak moved to America in 1980 and played collegiate tennis at Central Florida Community College at the No. 2 singles spot, reaching the junior college national semifinals in 1981. He was also a member of the NJCAA championship team in 1981, and played on the Swiss circuit in 1983.

In 1984, Novak earned a bachelor's degree in education with a concentration in kinesiology from the Texas Christian University, where he served as co-captain of the tennis team for two seasons. Novak received his master's degree in physical education with a concentration in sports management from the University of Arkansas in 1988.

Assistant Coach Joey Barnes

Second Season at Maryland
Maryland-University College '90

Joey Barnes returns for his second season as assistant coach for the Terps. He brings with him more than 30 years of coaching experience. Originally from New York City, Barnes is a retired U.S. Naval officer with 26 years of active duty service.

Prior to accepting the assistant coach position at Maryland, Barnes was a volunteer coach with the Terps for six years. He also coached at Kadena High School for two years. His naval post has allowed Barnes to teach tennis in 12 different countries and all throughout the U.S. He has been active in ensuring the growth of the USTA by coaching the USTA Team Maryland Travel Team, the USTA League Level Teams and USTA Area Training Camps.

In addition to coaching teams, Barnes has 29 years of private instructor experience, where he has coached several WTA as well as ATP players.

Barnes has served as the director of tennis at both the Georgetown Prep Tennis Club and the Mid-Atlantic Tennis Academy. He has also held coordinator positions with Nueven Senior Tours and the Acura WTA events.

Currently, Barnes is a certified member of the Professional Tennis Registry, the USTA National Player Development Coach Team and the USA Tennis High Performance Coaching Program. In his spare time, Barnes enjoys chess, music, traveling, writing, reading, photography, computing and, of course, playing tennis.

Volunteer Asst. D.J. Butler

Second Season at Maryland

D.J. Butler is back for his second year as a volunteer assistant coach the women's team. Tennis is life for the Silver Spring, Md. native, who is also a certified tennis professional with the United States Tennis Professional Association (USTPA). Butler has been coaching for over eight years along with working with local sectional and nationally ranked players.

After attending Maryland, Butler began working at the Tennis Center at College Park after its grand opening in the spring of 2001. During his time there in addition to giving lessons, he has worked with the Junior Tennis Champions, which is a non-profit organization which trains young student athletes to be tennis professionals. While at Maryland he helped organize free tennis programs for underprivileged kids throughout the community, as well as help out with a tennis 1-2-3 program.

Butlers' career aspirations include becoming a head tennis coach at the college level.

2004 Women's Season Preview

The goals for Maryland women's tennis head coach Martin Novak are very simple this season: bring his team onto the national scene and establish Maryland women's tennis as a power in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The task may seem daunting with schedule that includes 14 nationally-ranked teams by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA). The Terps conference stretch will prove to be difficult with the ACC boasting numerous national tennis powerhouses. "Our schedule is as strong and challenging as any. We have to step up and compete well every time out," says Novak.

Now in his third year as the Terps' head coach, Novak looks to mold his group of talented women into a unit capable of challenging some of the nations toughest teams both in the conference and around the nation.

"The team knows more of what to expect and what it will take to be successful in the ACC and on the national level," said Novak.

With a core of five experienced and motivated returnees from the 2002-03 campaign, along with a solid addition of three talented and eager freshmen, the Terps are poised to build upon strides made during the spring and fall season.

The Terps are coming off a strong fall season which saw a number of winning combinations through out various tournaments. The Terrapins have good depth in both singles and doubles and are overall a more mature, skilled and competitive team than in previous years.

The freshmen class, consisting of Marianne Baker (Glenelg, Md.), Brooke Rogers (Reisterstown, Md.) and Masha Senic (Glenmont, N.Y.), made an immediate impact during fall play. Baker's play lived up to her billing. She wasted no time capturing her first career singles title in her first collegiate tournament. She clinched the Flight B singles title at the Maryland Invitational, as well streaking to five straight doubles wins with partner Emily Marker.

Rogers and Senic are ready to prove themselves in singles and doubles action this spring and have added depth to the Terrapin lineup throughout the fall season. Both made appearances in the doubles lineup at the ITA East Regional.

Maryland loses just one player form the 2002-03 squad and returns instrumental senior leaders Chloe Chavardes (St. Noblabreteche, France) and Emily Marker (Ann Arbor, Mich.). "Our seniors are good leaders and have a strong influence on all of us," says Novak about his co-captains for the 2004 season.

The 2004 Terps

Chavardes is back for her final season as a Terp. She participated with the team in two tournaments this fall, and found success at the Maryland Invitational where she claimed the Flight B singles backdraw and the Flight A backdraw with doubles partner Brooke Rogers.

The trio of Jennifer Dent (Safety Harbor, Fla.), Andreea Fusea (Bucharest, Romania) and Ramona But (Timisoara, Romania) now have an important year of experience under their belt and will be highly active in producing positive results in the Terp lineup. Dent has much improved since her first season as a Terp, and has spent time in the top half of the Terrapin lineup during the fall. Fusea finished third in Flight B at the Maryland Invitational, as well as representing the Terps in the singles lineup at regionals.

Taking the ACC by surprise in 2003 was newcomer Ramona But. The All-ACC selection posted a team-high nineteen singles victories during her freshman year. After achieving an ITA ranking of 61 in the fall, she advanced to the semifinals of the ITA East Regional tournament. The sophomore played as one of the top players in the nation with her No. 11 seeding at regionals. Heading into the spring, she is ranked No. 58 nationally

The Terps made a strong showing at the regionals, with But and Marker being two of the four players contending for the regional title. Senior Emily Marker contended for the title, but was forced to settle for second place in the regional. With her appearance in the title match, Marker also qualified for National Indoors.

Because Marker started out her senior year with a preseason ranking of 71, she was also invited to participate in the Riviera/ITA Women's All-American Championships.

The Riviera which is the premier hard court event of the fall season, along with the National Indoors, make up two of the three national collegiate tennis tournaments during the 2003-2004 tennis season. The third national championship tournament is the season-ending NCAA Championships held in May. Marker ended the fall season with a 11-5 mark.

Look for Marker, ranked No. 44 nationally this spring, and the rest of the Maryland women's tennis team to turn heads this season. The Terps will pursue individual excellence as well as a fulfilling experience this season in the face of a challenging schedule.

2003 Women's Tennis Review

Ramona But earns conference honors in her freshman season

The University of Maryland women's tennis team (10-11, 2-6 ACC) began the 2003 season with what head coach Martin Novak called "the perfect blend of experience, youth, quality and enthusiasm." Although the team faced adversity during the 2003 season, they battled back from injuries and a five-player roster to finish the year strong and prove that Novak had a winning combination. The Terps finished 10-11, 2-6 ACC.

The Terps started out with five straight wins over George Washington, Georgetown, Old Dominion and American. Senior Marta Jedrzejak (Sieradz, Poland), juniors Emily Marker (Ann Arbor, Mich.) and Chloe Chavardes (St. Nomlabreteche, France) were joined by three freshmen with huge potential. The trio of Ramona But (Timisoara, Romania), Andreea Fusea (Bucharest, Romania) and Jennifer Dent (Safety Harbor, Fla.) made their mark on the tennis court from the very first match, in which all three posted straight-set wins.

Maryland was edged at Penn State, 4-3, for their first loss of the year, but Marker, But and Fusea all notched singles victories. From Penn State, the Terps played consecutive road matches against West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Virginia Tech, Ohio State and William & Mary. The team went 3-4 during this time, earning victories over West Virginia, Princeton and Virginia Tech.

The Terps began ACC play on March 25 in Tallahassee. To this point, they were 8-4 on the year and fairly healthy. However, the match would be the first of five matches that the team had to play with only five players due to an injury to Andrea Fusea.

The Terps dropped matches to Florida State, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Duke and North Carolina during this time. But on April 9, the Terps traveled to Charlottesville, Va., to take on the University of Virginia and nearly scored an upset of the then-No. 32 Cavaliers. Fusea returned to action in the match, and with a full roster the Terps just missed posting their first ACC victory, losing 4-3.

They didn't have to wait much longer for that first conference win, because less than a week later the Terps notched wins over NC State and Wake Forest in the last homestand at the Tennis Center at College Park.

But, Marker and Jedrzejak all had singles victories against the Wolfpack, and the doubles point proved to the difference as the team won by a score of 4-3.

The story was the same against Wake Forest, as Marker and Chavardes put singles points on the board with victories and the Terps' lone senior, Jedrzejak, finished out her career as a Terp with a victory. Doubles was the difference again against the Demon Deacons, and the Terps pulled out another 4-3 victory.

When the seeds came out for the ACC Championships, Maryland was No. 7 and would face No. 8 Wake Forest in the conference tournament in Raleigh.

Despite a singles victory from Marker and the doubles team of But and Jedrzejak, the team lost its first-round match to Wake Forest, 4-1. Although they had an early exit from the tournament, Ramona But was named to the All-ACC team and rose to a No. 85 national ranking.

The doubles team of But and Jedrzejak, who posted an impressive 7-2 record, just missed postseason play at the NCAA Championships, being selected as third alternates.

Highlighting the end of the 2003 season was freshman Ramona But. Playing at the No. 1 position throughout the ACC portion of the Terps' schedule, But posted victories in matches against Virginia, North Carolina, NC State and Georgia Tech to finish the year ranked No. 85 in the nation. She finished the year 13-7, 4-4 in the ACC and was named to the 2003 All-ACC women's tennis team.

University of Maryland

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

University President
California '59
Sixth Year at Maryland

When C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998, he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Five years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever-accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community and in the world.

Leading a great university is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, chaired one of the nation's top-ranked departments of Mechanical Engineering, and eventually became Vice Chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

The University of Maryland is the State of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, providing the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress can be seen in every area, from its nationally-ranked programs to its growing range of partnerships to its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs has grown by leaps and bounds. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 18th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, the first time it has broken into the top 20 in its steady climb to distinction. We currently have 49 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 eight years ago.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20, and the Robert H. Smith School of Business is one of 6 nationally ranked in both the top 10 Business Faculty in Teaching and the top 10 Business Faculty in Research.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. This past year a faculty member was the recipient of the Japan Prize, an award given by the Japanese government in technology that is equivalent to the Nobel prizes. More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including political events, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 is 3.9, while the average SAT score is nearly 1,300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S. News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

Deborah A. Yow

Director of Athletics

10th Year at Maryland • Elon '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the tenth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's nine years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations, as well as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for the 2003-04 academic year. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Additionally, in May, she was chosen as one of three recipients of the 2003 Women of the Year award by Women in Sports and Events.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsible, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all nine of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budget in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected recently by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl and followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in December 2002. This past New Year's Day, they routed West Virginia, 41-7, in the 2004 Gator Bowl. In men's basketball, the Terps advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament following its second consecutive Final Four and the National Championship in 2002. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved this level in both these revenue sports in the same year.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only five universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Maryland).

- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center
- The athletics budget was balanced for the ninth consecutive year.
- In 2002-03, 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.

- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past nine years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also be highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. he is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three A's of the University — Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

Academic Support & Career Dev.

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by acting associate athletics director Val Sheley, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Kathy Fueston (right) works with the tennis teams.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist, as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

Maryland Gameplan

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume- writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes

Tennis student-athletes Scott Fink and John O'Rourke at work in the ASCDU.

- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Commitment Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills.

Commitment to Career Development To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals.

Commitment to Service To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities.

Tennis Sport Supervisor

Joe Hull

Senior Assoc. A.D./External Affairs

Joe Hull is in his sixth year at the University of Maryland following 12 years in various athletic fund-raising, ticketing and marketing capacities at North Carolina State University.

Hull was promoted to senior associate athletics director for external operations in June 2002 after serving in that role on an interim basis during the previous year. At Maryland, he oversees all fund-raising efforts for the Terrapins' athletic program. During his tenure, athletic fund-raising has increased by 500 percent. Hull also oversees the media relations and marketing offices in addition to the men's and women's tennis teams.

In addition, Hull serves as the project manager for the Comcast Center, the university's extraordinary new arena that opened in October 2002. His duties relevant to the arena process have included coordinating the efforts to find a naming gift, designing and managing a capital campaign to help fund arena construction, and working with the architects, construction manager and Maryland Stadium Authority to design and build the arena. Hull also serves as the athletic department's liaison for Phases II and III of the Gossett Football Team House expansion/renovation project.

Prior to his arrival in College Park, he was associate director of the NC State Student Aid Association (Wolfpack Club), which raises more than $7 million annually for athletic scholarships from its more than 14,000 members/contributors. The Wolfpack Club also was responsible for raising more than $50 million for the construction of a 20,000-seat sports arena through a campaign designed by Hull.

Hull earned his bachelor's degree in business management from North Carolina State University in 1978 and played four years of collegiate golf for the Wolfpack while earning ACC Honor Roll status. He also earned a law degree from Campbell University in 1981 and a master's in sports administration from Ohio University in 1985.

His wife, JoAnn, formerly served as an assistant attorney general for the state of North Carolina. They have two children, Josie (12) and Josh (8).
